OAEA President's Message

Isolete De Almeida

Greetings dear OAEA Villagers,

My tenure as president of OAEA is coming to an end and I hope I didn't let you down. Here is a short summary of what we accomplished from the Fall of 2014 to the Fall of 2016. One of the first things our board did following the Fall 2014 conference was the board retreat held at Medicine Park, which was paid for with a grant received from the Kirkpatrick Foundation. The old and new board members worked together on the revisions of several OAEA documents. The goal for that retreat was to have the old board members introduce the new board members to the projects they will be responsible for in the next few months. I believe that the meeting led to the success of YAM, YTIO, and Jr. YTIO in 2015. Let's not forget the Leadership Institute we had at the Chickasaw Cultural Center also sponsored by the Kirkpatrick Foundation in the Fall of 2015. I believe it was an opportunity to learn more about leadership and to invite prospective board members to attend and participate. Of the five we invited four were able to attend. We were able to provide these opportunities to our members because of $ 6,500 in grants from the Kirkpatrick Foundation. Once again I would like to remind you of this quote:

"A leader takes people where they want to go. A great leader takes people where they don't necessarily want to go, but ought to be." Rosalyn Carter

There is a leader in all of you! It might just be that you haven't discovered that potential yet. I challenge you to be brave and get your feet wet. Every two years OAEA renews its board membership. Contact one of us if you are interested in joining the board.

Now I would like to thank the board members that have stuck with me for two years. Thank you YAM chairs Michelle Barnes and Sarah Carnes. YAM is one of our biggest projects and these ladies worked tirelessly to make it a great success in 2015 and 2016. Thank you ladies! And, thank you Michelle for writing the Yam report and sending it out to NAEA on time. You are so appreciated! Then we had successful YTIO events thanks to Jime Wimmer, Gayla Mitchell, and Ranell Zurmehly, co-chairs of the event. They collected the artwork, contacted the judges, found a venue for the exhibit and reception and everything went on without a glitch. You might not know but YTIO is labor intensive and these ladies worked so well together. They were so committed to handling things on time, and communicating to teachers the works selected to receive awards and to be on display at the OCU or UCO gallery. I believe everyone was pleased with how things were handled. Thank you again Jime, Gayla, and Zurmehly. You all rock! Another important event we hold yearly in the Spring is the Jr YTIO for middle and junior high school students. Thanks to Jennifer Van Patton's leadership the final event was held at the Zarrow Center in 2015 and at Oral Roberts University in 2016 in Tulsa. She collected the work found a judge to select the work, and found a venue for the exhibit and awards presentation. Clinton Middle School students were the stars of the show! Kudos to Joy Badillo who not only brought students all the way from Clinton to Tulsa for the awards presentation but also brought parents. Without her commitment and dedication to her students and profession the JrYTIO would not have been as successful as it was both years. Thank you Jennifer and Joy for your hard work! Keep the inspiration going and know that you are very much appreciated!

Thank you to our PR/Newsletter expert Donna Barnard for her outstanding work putting all the information together in the form of a newsletter and for sending it out. She is very hard working and as a former YTIO chair is instrumental in sharing her knowledge with new YTIO chairs. I know they value her expertise and I do to. Thank you Donna!

We also had several workshops: one on mixed media with Kathy Liontas-Warren in June 2015, another one with Mike Wimmer on portrait painting in April 2016, and one on Collage making with Brad Jessop in June 2016. These workshops were possible with grants received from the Oklahoma Arts Council. I thank Chris Ramsay for writing the grants and for doing all the pre and post workshop paperwork. I hope some of you had the opportunity to attend one or several of these workshops. It is the goal of your organization to meet your professional needs as much as possible but we need you to tell us what those are. We are just a click away!

I would also like to thank Edna McMillan for coordinating two conferences at Cameron University. Everything worked so smoothly, the facilities were accessible, the lunch was very relaxed, and in general the atmosphere of the conference was excellent. Thank you Edna, my friend! We had Niki Stewart from the Cristal Bridges Museum in Arkansas as the keynote speaker for the 2015 conference and the responses from those in attendance were fantastic. Thank you also for connecting us with the Leslie Powell Gallery for the members' exhibit. What a wonderful location to show our work and have our annual reception.

We are currently working on the 2016 Fall conference and Mandell Chenoweth and Shelley Self are giving it all to make it a successful one. Oral Roberts University has opened its doors to OAEA this year and I am pleased to announce that we have 3 major artists coming to present to you. Please make plans to attend Sep. 30 and Oct 1 and be enlightened by Marwen Begaye, Mike Wimmer, and internationally known Native American artist Jaune Quick-to-See Smith. Register now! I would also like to thank in advance the owner of the Willowbrush Gallery in Tulsa for allowing us to hold our members exhibit there this year. You may give your artwork to one of the board members in your area a week before the conference to take to Tulsa for that event.

Before I end this note, I also like to thank Jann Jeffrey, Portfolio Day Chair; Bob Curtis, Awards Chair; Rosemary Burke-Carrol, Retired Chair; Erin Oldfield, Museum Chair; Brian Payne, Webmaster; Amy Fiegenger, Treasurer; Ruth Crittendon, Secretary; Eric Hardison, Supervision/Administration. Thank you Eric for securing the grant from the Chickasaw Nation to bring Jaune Quick-to-See Smith to present at the conference. Thank you all for working hard on moving OAEA forward into the future. As you can see, it does take a Village to run an organization like ours. Thank you Glen Henry, Department of Education Liaison for keeping us informed and for helping us keep our members and others informed through your listserve. I apologize in advance if I forgot to mention your name but I want you to know that I thank and appreciate you for all you do!

Times are difficult for teachers in our state right now, but we must not get discouraged and give up. Now more than ever one must work harder for the profession but most importantly for the kids that need us. Keep up the GREAT WORK! Get involved!

"The first rule of leadership: everything is your fault." – A Bug's Life

Carpe Diem!

Thing to know for the OAEA Fall Conference at ORU:

ORU is a WiFi campus, log on as a student, there is no password.

There are snack and drink machines on every floor.

Park in the Mabee Center parking lot and go to the Graduate Center building (the GC).

When you enter the building you will be on the landing between the third and second floors.

Go to down the stairs to the second floor and register; Registration is in front of the elevators near the Pit area. Ask anyone and they will be able to direct you if you need help.

When originally built the building we are using was two separate buildings that were connected later. The Art Department is on the second and first floors of the Graduate Center, the other side of this building is called the Student Resource Center or the SRC.

Silent Auction at 2016 Fall Conference

The Silent Auction that took place during the 2015 Fall Conference brought the organization close to $800. All the items were donated by members and board members. Think about what you can donate this year! The money raised goes toward the many projects OAEA sponsors. Young Talent winners receive a scholarship and we would like to do more for the Junior Young Talent participants to keep them stimulated in their creative endeavors. We would like to do more for the kids but we need financial support. If you have things that you would like to give away, save it for the OAEA Silent Auction. It does not have to be artwork. It could just be something you want to give away because it is taking space in your house. Bring it with you to the conference in Tulsa or send it with a friend. It all goes to the kids!

Please bring items with you to the 2016 Conference in Tulsa for the Silent Auction!
