OAEA President's Message

September 2018

Greetings to all of my art peeps! It has been a very busy start of the school year for me, but a very good kind of busy!

The Member Show looks amazing in the Garvey Center Gallery at Oklahoma Christian University. Go by and see it if you get a chance. I believe the Gallery is open during University hours: 8am-5pm.

I am looking forward to Fall Conference and seeing every one of you, October 12-13, 2018. Oklahoma Christian is a beautiful facility and we have inspiring keynote speakers and exciting workshops ready to boost your ART Education, professional development needs. And the best part of attending conference is you get to spend the whole time with your art peers! Even if you cannot take time from class on Friday please come to the 5:00pm keynote speaker and to the Member Show viewing and reception.

See you all soon, Frances

The OAEA Member Show was installed on September 15th at the Garvey Center, and it may be viewed through October 13th.

Exhibiting Student Artwork at the State Fair of Oklahoma

September is that time of year when we start settling into our school routines and planning all the wonderfully creative things we are going to do with our students for the year. September is also the month that the State Fair of Oklahoma arrives. The history of the creative arts at the Oklahoma State fair began in the late 1800's, before statehood, with an Indian Territory Fair. After a few name changes, several locales, and a lot of construction, including the addition of the Women's Building which would later become known as the Home Arts and Crafts Building in the 1960's and 1970's, that fair would eventually develop into Oklahoma's State Fair as we know it today.

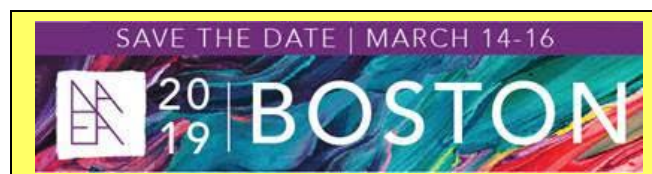

The venues at the fair may have changed but the total number of creative arts activities the fair has for the public to see and do is still a staggering amount. Some of the highlights are; the Oklahoma Student Art Exhibition; art demonstrations by the Oklahoma Art Education Association, the OKC Arts Council, various art and craft guilds, and performing arts groups; and art contests of all kinds including metal sculpture, ceramics, and china painting, just to name a few. There are also many artistic activities to be enjoyed in the off season, such as Take pART in the Fair for kids.

With so many creative things going on at once, you may want to pick a few of your favorites to visit at the fair, but don't forget to plan for what you can be doing for your students all year long. By entering student work in the Oklahoma Student Art Exhibition and Ribbon Recycle Contests, you not only get their work out there for almost a million people to see, but you might just win some money for your art programs doing it.

If you visit the Fair don't miss the Oklahoma Student Art Exhibit and the Ribbon Recycle Contest winners at the Oklahoma Contemporary Building. The awards ceremony was held on Sept 15th and many OAEA members participated in the exhibit and had award winning student artwork.

OAEA 2018 Conference Silent Auction

Don't forget to bring one or more items for our Silent Auction! All donations help support our programs at all levels. You can bring 2-D and 3-D artwork, jewelry, decorative items, art books, art supplies, and anything you would want to bid on! It's a fun event that has been a good fundraiser for our organization. Bring items Friday and/or Saturday. The silent auction will be Saturday 11:15 am.
